1	Yes, absolutely.	Aug 3, 2010 3:11 AM
2	YES I AGREE... But I do not know how you can get the message to the general public ???	Aug 3, 2010 3:12 AM
3	Yes	Aug 3, 2010 3:12 AM
4	I agree	Aug 3, 2010 3:16 AM
5	Their fears appear to be reasonable, given the Anointed One's actions since JAN 2009.	Aug 3, 2010 3:17 AM
6	I agree that there are very, very, serious concerns; fear? When mortal combat is eminent, fear is your enemy; you fail to do what is needed to survive, and you die all tensed up.	Aug 3, 2010 3:22 AM
7	agree, the course has been set for Marxism	Aug 3, 2010 3:22 AM
8	Agree. I believe Obama has no background to handle the presidency, no capability or experience to guide the United States forward and his lack of experience and determination will diminish the US horribly	Aug 3, 2010 3:23 AM
9	I do agree, because I am seeing the very things that they fear already being shoved down our throats.	Aug 3, 2010 3:24 AM
10	agree	Aug 3, 2010 3:24 AM
11	Yes Has having a small business his economic strategy has just about done me in. The loss of major business and people on unemployment trickled down till I've had the worse two years in the last twenty. Probably will be the first month in that time I will not meet my expenses	Aug 3, 2010 3:25 AM
12	I am retired and spend a lot of time on the internet. This oboma fool makes me physical sick. I am crabby toward my family and I try to explain that there is a communist muslim in the white house ready to make us into a communist nation and people just have their head in the sand, they don't want to believe it.	Aug 3, 2010 3:29 AM
13	agree the president is trying to destroy the nation and make it a 3rd world country of his design. he has shown in his wrighting and actions that he hates white people and blames them for everything.	Aug 3, 2010 3:29 AM
15	He is correct our way of life is being strangled by neo-liberalism crushing the American "can do" with the socialist mantra "What will goverment do for me, and what is the least i can do"	Aug 3, 2010 3:31 AM

16	Yes, Thanks to Glenn Beck, Rush Limbaugh, Heritage, Mich. News, J.P.F.O., 2. Getting the word out. Email., talking and expressing what I have learned, VOTING FOR PEOPLE OF MORALS. 3. No just glad that the truth is getting out.	Aug 3, 2010 3:32 AM
17	Yes. Because they are right that the office of the Presidency has become too powerful, enacting laws and meting out "justice" without the involvement of the Judicial or Legislative branches of government. Obama has made it very clear that he intends to enact a transformation of the United States in the form of redistribution of wealth.	Aug 3, 2010 3:34 AM
18	The fears expressed are rational and well-founded.	Aug 3, 2010 3:34 AM
19	I certanly agree I belive that Obama and crew are happy with unemployment at its current rate and hope it will go higher while they can still blame Bush. They feel that the more people on the dole the more secure they are in office. That is the reason for amnesty for Illegal Aliens (they hope they will vote Democratic)	Aug 3, 2010 3:37 AM
20	I agree ! This administration is leading the PROGRESSIVE, SOCIALIST movement to cause the collapse of the capitalist economy and create the new world order dictatorship.	Aug 3, 2010 3:37 AM
21	Agree. The laws in place have taken power away from Congress and given it to the Executive Branch. Dems are aware of the potential to lose power like '94 and will not give it up.	Aug 3, 2010 3:38 AM
22	100%Agree,Excellent,Powerfully Worded Article;a Must-Read-These guys hit the nail on the head..I don't understand how ppl.could've been That Stupid,Naive,&Blind to O'Grady's Obvious Lies and Voted for this charlatan,members of my immediate family won't talk to me anymore because of the Anointed One.i.e.they voted him in and they are Convinced He can do No Wrong.Now they're too full of Pride to admit they made a Dumb Choice...	Aug 3, 2010 3:40 AM
23	I agree. This man's intent is to destroy America, as we know it.	Aug 3, 2010 3:46 AM
24	Yes, I agree. You can cut the Tyranny with a knife. It's been so obvious to me what is happening. This is the Planned Tyranny coming to a head. They must be stopped. Unfortunately we have no great leader to step up to the plate. People are waking up, but will it be in time? The Democrat versus the Republican is still played so heavily, I think it side tracks people. It's Way beyond Dems/Republicans. Soon there will be no more Democrats or Republicans. If people don't wake up.	Aug 3, 2010 3:46 AM
25	I agree! He is an intelligent and charismatic speaker, and well groomed for his position well before the general public knew of his existence. I fear life as we knew it is gone forever. His platform of "Change" was brilliant. Change is always necessary in one form or another so this of message "Change" carried well into the hearts and minds of the memorized. Unfortunately along with that small bit of truth a bag of tricks was hidden behind the podium. He was waiting to pounce and pounce he has. With this current direction there is no doubt that this once great nation will end up in the same shambles that the USSR did in the early 90's. This ship is headed into the rocks.	Aug 3, 2010 3:47 AM
26	I agree on the sole fact bomma has ignored what the majority of Americans overwhelmingly wanted in several circumstances. Immigration is the prime example.	Aug 3, 2010 3:50 AM
27	Yes. I've been watching and fighting illegal government for 35 years, and the last two administrations have accelerated our loss of liberty and our fundamental principles more than I've seen in fifty years. I thought the Bush administration was out of control, but the Illegal usurper Obama has increased the speed by a quantum jump. I am extremely worried about my nation's future.	Aug 3, 2010 3:51 AM

28	I absolutely agree. Unless we can remove him from office soon, the damage he will have done to this country by 2012 may be irreversible. He flaunts his anti-American agenda in the face of every American, and he is trying, in my opinion, to provoke a violent reaction from patriots, giving him the authority to impose Marshall Law and cancel the Nov elections.	Aug 3, 2010 3:51 AM
29	YES I agree!!! Our country is being destroyed and we are for the most part standing by and letting it happen. We do not have the rule of law anymore in this country...or at least the leftist do not follow it. We the people still follow the rule of law and the communist Obama and his despots do not. If you have ever studied the rise and fall of Rome you will see that we are in the death throws of our own demise. But, it is not too late, and we have to band together in one voice, and take our country back, no matter what it takes...	Aug 3, 2010 3:54 AM
30	both sides of the isle are guilty for overspending. I agree that the current financial setting is leading to dramatic financial trouble. I believe that the use of administrative directives, in effect passing laws by fiat, w/o congress involved is dangerous. Again practiced at times by all partys, when it serves their interest.	Aug 3, 2010 3:56 AM
31	Agree in general, STRONGLY DISAGREE on specifics. The author displays a republican/democrat worldview that is stuck somewhere short of reality. Until America realizes that BUSH laid the groundwork for OBAMA, who will lay the groundwork for the NEXT tyrant, there can be no forward progress. Anyone that truly examines POLICY will see that there is no difference between the Republicans and the Democrats, they are on the SAME TEAM. Divide and Conquer. That's what our two-party system does. Idiomatic "liberals" point fingers at absurd "neo-cons," all the while criminals are streaming out the back door with America's Wealth and Freedom stuffed in their pockets.	Aug 3, 2010 3:57 AM
32	Yes The Constitution is not being followed as it is written. The Supreme Court is complicit in activism rather than reading the Consitution in exact English and grammar.The representatives in D.C. are not representing the people of their state or district, but rather the corporations and lobbyists that pay for their campaigns for election or re-election.	Aug 3, 2010 3:58 AM
34	1) Mostly Agree. Why, because I have EYES AND EARS and I like to think a pretty good knowledge of history, both of the US and mankind.	Aug 3, 2010 3:59 AM
35	This analysis is too gentle. The truth is, this is deliberate takeover of the once greatest nation in the world. Freedom will never be the same. The fear of another obsessed leader will frighten Americans for many years to come. Government can no longer be trusted because of the power hungry and corrupt Congress and White House. This may be the first step of sharia Law being forced down our throats. G-D help us all.	Aug 3, 2010 4:00 AM
36	I agree; Things are completely out of control....	Aug 3, 2010 4:02 AM
37	I agree. Because very few people know the truth. The Bible says that "the truth will set you free." Because Congress and the Senators are the rats. Especially Congress, our "lawmakers". Does any one realize that Congress does not have the power to legislate beyond it's district and it's territories? Only Constitutional Amendments can bind the states if approved by 3/4 of the states. Executive Orders can not bind the states; they are only for Washington, D.C. it's territories.	Aug 3, 2010 4:02 AM
38	I agree totally.	Aug 3, 2010 4:02 AM

Response Text
39	I would agree because these things are happening. obama is a muslim and hates Christians, Jews and America, open your eyes and see. Unfortunately the news media could end this whole mess within weeks but they are so busy being suck-ups cause he is a "black man" and they want to show how open minded they are. Trouble is, everyone who sucks-up to this man is going to get squashed if it all goes his way, they're just to stupid to see it.	Aug 3, 2010 4:06 AM
40	I agree, It will take a revolution to get the Country and the Constitution back from the NWO.	Aug 3, 2010 4:07 AM
41	I certainly do. I am seeing the total dismantling of everything the founding father's pledged their lives, honors and fortunes for. I will not stand idly by and be fitted for the chains of tyranny and I am not.	Aug 3, 2010 4:07 AM
42	Yes. He told us what he would do before the election in the article he authored in the Council on Foreign Relations Publication -- Foreign Affairs and in his campaign speeches and in his actions. He is just beginning change and transformation from our Constitutional republic form of representative self-government which we need to keep by means as admonished to us by our Founding Fathers.	Aug 3, 2010 4:08 AM
43	Agree, but the time frame is in question. It will take a number of crises to precipitate a secession among some of the states. This will be especially difficult given that the Senate will not change who is in control in all likelihood. Recall when the Reps had majorities under Klinton - they wrung their hands in disbelief, but took no effective action to stop rule by executive order.	Aug 3, 2010 4:09 AM
44	I very much agree with the sentiment in this article. I wholeheartedly believe we are headed towards another revolution. I hope that it can be held of for a couple years after November. But in any event I recommend for everyone to be prepared.	Aug 3, 2010 4:12 AM
45	Agree. The authors' fears are dead-on. There is a centennial (or longer) trend of the federal government usurping power from states and citizens. Many presidents and their administrations (Wilson, FDR, Johnson) made major moves in this direction. Even if some of it was later reversed, damage was done - and accepted by the force of habit. We are at a tipping point NOW, where about half of the population is dependent on government handouts and votes accordingly.	Aug 3, 2010 4:12 AM
46	I agree because this man in the white house is deliberately bringing down the middle class. If there is no middle class, everyone will be dependent on the government for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.	Aug 3, 2010 4:14 AM
48	Of course I do. Obama is a Marxist and has almost succeeded in changing this country to a Socialist country with an Imperial president.	Aug 3, 2010 4:16 AM
49	YES.Obama is a communist	Aug 3, 2010 4:16 AM
50	Yes	Aug 3, 2010 4:17 AM
51	I agree with the fears expressed by the authors. All of this was plain as day to see 2 years ago. What took so long for people to come to this conclusion. Even a casual perusal of life and times of B. H. Obama shows him to be affiliated with groups bent on the overthrow of the constitution.	Aug 3, 2010 4:18 AM
52	Yes, I agree. There are too many facts obvious that he is acting un-American, starts with his name and his history.. or lack there of... and runs all the way to his actions with other countries. He sucks.	Aug 3, 2010 4:20 AM
53	I agree with the authors. Our nation as we know it is disappearing before our very eyes. Americans that wanted change are getting their "change" very fast. Anyone who voted for Obama either did not understand or care where he stood on the important issues. Their carelessness allowed Obama to become President and Destroyer of America. Fifty million unborn, murdered, children are crying out for justice.	Aug 3, 2010 4:20 AM

54	Agree. It simply is a government out of control. Conservatism is a bad word and notion in the present administration. The Constitution is not followed and no one is doing anything about it!	Aug 3, 2010 4:22 AM
55	Yes I agree. The Obama administration and the Democrats are bent on transforming our Republic into a socialist style government.	Aug 3, 2010 4:26 AM
56	Strongly agree. Additionally, I am very concerned about the "race card" now being so openly played which labels anyone or every organization that disagrees with these policies as being "racists" or "Nazi". When people feel powerless against an over-reaching national government and normal avenues of dissent are virtually destroyed, the only remaining option is, unfortunately, violence. I think there is a 50/50 chance that we will even have a 2012 presidential election. I dread some kind of "crisis" where civil liberties are suspended, martial law enacted, communications controlled... all by presidential decree. We will then effectively have a dictatorship and will play hell trying to get it back. The only wild card in this whole mess is how the military will react when ordered to round up and jail "Tea Party" members or any other group that disagrees. So far, the military has sworn to protect and defend the Constitution... it has not, at least yet, sworn allegiance directly to Mr. Obama... something not out of the realm of possibility if he feels his power slipping. The chaos is already starting in Arizona. Should things continue on their current trend, this type of unrest and revolt against the federal government will only grow state-by-state.	Aug 3, 2010 4:27 AM
57	Agree.	Aug 3, 2010 4:29 AM
58	I agree, the past 100 years have seen a gradual erosion of our rights that has accelerated in the past 20 or so years. The attitude in Washington seems to be that the people are here to serve the government.	Aug 3, 2010 4:29 AM
59	I agree with the fears i can see it as many americans should see it due to who I work for.	Aug 3, 2010 4:33 AM
60	Mostly agree, although GWB also weakened America, not strengthened, by fiat "executive" orders that bypassed Congress, whom also abdicated their duty to uphold the Constitution. At the core of all Big Gov't growth is the central bank. With their ability to fraudulently create money out of thin air and "loan" 90% more (fractional reserve banking), Congress can legislate favorable laws for Wall Street and the military-industrial complex. Without this machine, Big Gov't would necessarily be overt to achieve the same affect. Since the Fed devalues the value by increasing the pool (inflation), all money buys less - even those sitting in "savings".	Aug 3, 2010 4:35 AM
61	Yes, because they are right.	Aug 3, 2010 4:36 AM
62	I fully agree with the authors. Obama wants a Lord and serf society with the handful of intellectuals controlling and managing all of the lives of the worker bees, collecting the honey and redistributing the wealth among the wealthy. He wants a one party authoritarian government where he and his cronies can rule at will.	Aug 3, 2010 4:36 AM
63	I agree that obama is going to ruin this country if left in the white house for 2 more years.	Aug 3, 2010 4:39 AM
65	Agree.....This man is destroying America from within.	Aug 3, 2010 4:40 AM
66	Howdy. i agree because this KENYAN BORN FRAUD is a MUSLIM AND MARXIST and is ALREADY doing what this article is trying to WARN WE THE PEOPLE about.	Aug 3, 2010 4:43 AM

Response Text
67	I agree. I truly believe our once great nation is filled with a bunch of dithering idiots watching the talking heads of the networks, sitcoms, and reality shows. They are opting out of running their lives and the country as if it mattered. Their only concern is "whats in it for me?" I do not believe enough will wake up in time to see what is happening. I sometimes feel like Don Quixote.	Aug 3, 2010 4:49 AM
68	Yes because the balance of power is so far off right now, that too much damage is done that it will take either dismantling the government and starting over with a Consitutional Patriotic America First Americans First laws that all must follow.	Aug 3, 2010 4:59 AM
69	yes -but I believe Barry Obama is a puppet for the bankers- he's pulled off the biggest bank heist ever- stealing 17 trillion and giving the banksters a blank check, and the ability to never be audited. I also think that the author is wrong about one thing, Bernake at the FED totally knows the direction of the economy- down by design- it's cause and effect. Crash the economy and bring in the NWO. (after they confiscate guns of course- they are stacking the deck against gun ownership right now, adding anti-gunners to the bench as we speak.)	Aug 3, 2010 5:04 AM
70	Agree- see Glenn Beck	Aug 3, 2010 5:16 AM
71	pretty much agree	Aug 3, 2010 5:20 AM
72	I agree.	Aug 3, 2010 5:21 AM
73	yes, but, our republicans have gone along with the democrats in too many areas so much so, i believe we have gone beyond the point of recovery.	Aug 3, 2010 5:35 AM
74	I AGREE	Aug 3, 2010 5:36 AM
75	I disagree very much with the opinions expressed. This is right wing Crappola. Conservatives were very quiet when Bush was spending like crazy and setting the foundation for our current recession. There was no regulation of financial markets and we see the results. It's interesting that most of Obama's advisers are the same folks that advised Bush. The constitutionality of regulation of interstate commerce is very strong. Corporations, the business community and the financial markets just want to do whatever they want and let the consumer and the public be damned. Because of the Commodities Consolidation Act and the Gramn deregulation bill the country is suffering now. These were republican sponsored bills. There is redistribution of wealth, but it is upward toward the top 1% of Americans, who by the way control 50% of the wealth in the United States. The EPA was created by Pres Nixon, what an ironic chuckle.	Aug 3, 2010 5:38 AM
76	I agree. This is the most anti-American, anti-capitalist, anti-free market president I can recall. This man is a narcissistic socialist who has apparently been groomed by powers behind the throne. He could only have been elected by the willful failure of journalists to do their job, and by the deliberate dumbing down of the American population through govt indoctrination centers (public schools) and a compliant media culture that has lost sight of traditional American values.	Aug 3, 2010 5:44 AM
77	I do agree that the left wants a fight. Don't give it to them. Use your vote and your voice.	Aug 3, 2010 5:44 AM
78	I agree and have never been so disgusted with the policies of this present administration that has gotten away with the supposed czars and the attempts to change our government and liberties at every level with all his Socialist friends. I shudder every day Obama is at the helm. The TEA party and the upcoming election may be the only hope.	Aug 3, 2010 5:47 AM
79	I absolutely agree. In addition to the insane policies already implemented by the current administration, I have heard and seen numerous audio and video clips of Obama and many of his czars professing their affinity for Marxism. Add to that the past couple of generations having been indoctrinated by a corrupt education system, along with the mainstream media propagandizing all who are receptive to it, and it's easy to see that this country is in extreme peril.	Aug 3, 2010 5:48 AM
80	I agree. Obama already has a shaddow government controlled by his czars.	Aug 3, 2010 6:01 AM

Response Text
81	I do agree - it should be obvious to the most casual observer that everything is going badly and whom is to blame. However, the Federal Government has long since outlived its usefulness and it is unlikely that we can rein it in. Fifty independent states would make a lot more sense. The original reason of defending ourselves against aggressive European colonial powers no longer exists. And independent states would be able to control their politicians much more effectively at the local level.	Aug 3, 2010 6:06 AM
82	Potentially. I agree that Obama can cause much additional mischief even as a one-term lame duck president. I hope that it will not come to second civil war, but that is far from certain.	Aug 3, 2010 6:12 AM
83	I agree....pretty darn accurate rundown.	Aug 3, 2010 6:17 AM
84	Yes I Believe that Obama is purposely trying to destroy the countries economy from within and you will know for sure when the house lets the Bush tax cuts expire. He wants to replace the current systym with a socialist system. He would think different him and his friends if they took there millons and said you can only make say 15,000 a year but hey what do we peasents know they expect us to sit back and rob us and us not do anything so they can be the elitist they think they are.	Aug 3, 2010 6:30 AM
85	100% agree. Unfortunately, they don't begin to express the abuse of government authority over citizens and businesses that will be coming out of the Executive branch in coming years. "Fasten your seatbelts. It's going to be bumpy ride."	Aug 3, 2010 7:15 AM
87	Yes - right to the point.	Aug 3, 2010 8:09 AM
88	Yes I agree. All signs indicate Obama is working for the NWO and is intent on the destruction of America. Oh... I meant Trasnformation!	Aug 3, 2010 8:17 AM
89	Yes, because they are true	Aug 3, 2010 8:25 AM
90	Obama is certainly a dangerous Communist with his unelected Czars (ironic name) doing much more damage without accountability. However, he (and they) are causing such a backlash to support of the U.S. Constitution that the November 2010 elections (if not rigged) will show a massive swing toward freedom and away from Obama's (and, to a lesser degree, Bush's) totalitarian ideas.	Aug 3, 2010 8:29 AM
91	I agree with the fears expressed by the authors, for the simple fact that the constitution rights of americans are being eroded by the president. Who is trying to make this a muslim country, trying to make this country a part of the one world government.	Aug 3, 2010 8:32 AM
92	I agree but with limitations. The Constitution makes no mention of executive orders, and gives law making authority only to Congress, not to the president nor the judicial branch.	Aug 3, 2010 9:31 AM
93	Agree. I've watched the whole development of the Obama Cult, and the virtual takeover of the Democrat party by front orgaizations like "Move On". Now, in the olden days when I was growing up, today's "community orgaizers" were called "ward heelers" or am I mistaken?	Aug 3, 2010 9:34 AM
94	Yes, BO is destroying this country. I'm 72 and on Medicare and private insurance. My CANCER doctor quit and I now have a nurse practitioner People have no idea what is coming. .	Aug 3, 2010 9:59 AM
95	I agree. We only have to look at the worlds dictatorial past to know whats happening.	Aug 3, 2010 10:21 AM
96	Yes.	Aug 3, 2010 10:28 AM
97	yes, he is trying to convert the US into a socialist/communist society.	Aug 3, 2010 10:36 AM

Response Text
98	Yes.	Aug 3, 2010 10:36 AM
100	agree	Aug 3, 2010 10:42 AM
101	I agree. There has been a long trail of abuses, Obama is simply the latest in a long string of presidents who have done their best to shred the constitution. Even a rabbit will come out to defend itself or its young, the American people have been backed into that corner.	Aug 3, 2010 11:09 AM
102	I agree with the fears indicated. I feel that awareness of what is surely coming is not widespread enough. Too many are still grasping the hope that all will become much better in a short time. There are still some, (not as many as before), who believe that the government will fix everything if we just have patience. With that, and the constant new rules, regulations, constitutional violations and general arrogant actions of the president, we are in a horrid downward slide.	Aug 3, 2010 11:14 AM
103	I agree with the authors. Why? Unless you've been living under a rock, the last year and a half has been a relentless anti-American steamroller.	Aug 3, 2010 11:16 AM
104	Yes, I agree. I think the source of our fears needs to be divorced from the tired, old two party rhetoric. The Republicans are just as much at fault as the Democrats. Anyone, regardless of party affiliation, who will not completely support a return to limited, small government is an enemy. Unfortunately, we all have friends and acquaintances who have been convinced that redistribution of wealth is a good thing, so long as they are on the receiving end. They are roadblocks to a return to Constitutionally-limited government.	Aug 3, 2010 11:36 AM
105	I agree FULLY. There are NO current means by which an "out-of-control" president can be reined back. Exception: When the dems lose control of Congress impeachment proceeding against BHO and other guilty officials can [should] begin immediately.	Aug 3, 2010 11:38 AM
106	I agree. We have been traveling down this road for many years. Obama is the first President we've had, since FDR, to have the gall to openly go against the will of the people because in his naricisstic, Marxist, mind he believes he knows what is best. He is DANGEROUS!	Aug 3, 2010 11:44 AM
107	I agree completely with the fears expressed by the authors. Obama has shown himself to have a one track mind. The overthrow of the constitution by any means, much of it is being done through either new regulatory agencies he is creating or by minor but ongoing changes to current agencies that give them control over the country and its resources in an unparalled, unprecedented way. He is also increasing control over the states to bring them in line with his statist view and setting himself with sole control of the government. He is stacking the courts, supreme court in particular to defend his position in all areas. He also wants to control the internet to preclude the possibility of "Committees of Correspondence" on the internet to oppose him.	Aug 3, 2010 11:46 AM
108	Agree. Disrupting our culture and Judeo/Christian norms and standards with out of control central government will lead to social upheaval	Aug 3, 2010 11:55 AM
109	Agree, Socialism - throwing out free enterprise, more restrictions on everything we do is Communism	Aug 3, 2010 11:59 AM
110	Generally, yes, I agree with the authors' fears. The inevitability of Obama's totalitarianism, however, is not in my opinion an eventuality. Even his own party is turning away from him. Hopefully we will have veto-proof majorities in the Houses to stymie his traitorous schemes. If we do not turn the tide then I agree that there will be bloodshed and revolution.	Aug 3, 2010 12:10 PM

111	Yes I do agree, mostly. I do not believe that if the Republicans take control in January, that all this government take over will stop. No Politicans will sit around for two years doing nothing. Even though I and I am sure many more would gladly pay them to do so. I am not very hopeful that an sort of repeals will take place in 2011-2012. Both parties have been taking us down the Socialism road for decades. With Obama, it has just happened at a faster rate that finally got the attention of the masses that had their heads buried in the sand. Finally if Obama some how strong arms his way into a Second term, it may finally be the tipping point. So I hope that does not become the case.	Aug 3, 2010 12:12 PM
112	Yes, I've never witnessed the level arrogance in our government that presently exists.	Aug 3, 2010 12:22 PM
113	Yes. It is obvious to me that the present administration, starting at the top, is composed of liars, cheats, incompetents, outright thieves who are driving this country to destruction.	Aug 3, 2010 12:24 PM
114	agree	Aug 3, 2010 12:24 PM
115	I agree 100%. The first civil war was over state's rights not slavery, and the second is going to be over individual rights.	Aug 3, 2010 12:26 PM
116	I agree	Aug 3, 2010 12:43 PM
117	I agree! My fears have been in place since I began to learn more about the two headed monster in 2007 while campaigning for Ron Paul in the primary presidential election. I have come to realize that there are federalist and non-federalist in both major political parties who no longer follow the Constitution nor The Bill Of Rights.	Aug 3, 2010 12:46 PM
118	I do agree that there is a pronounced air of fear and disappointment. While the, "worst," part of the recession may be over, at the grass roots level it is far from over.	Aug 3, 2010 12:49 PM
119	I agree. Obama is ruining and destroying this country and everything it stands for. His idea of government is totally different and in opposition to the founding fathers.	Aug 3, 2010 12:53 PM
120	Yes. However, the republicans work for the same globalist insiders as BO and do not present real opposition to the destroy the USA agenda.	Aug 3, 2010 12:56 PM
121	Yes - The only job government seems to have now is to grow the government.	Aug 3, 2010 12:56 PM
122	Agree	Aug 3, 2010 1:00 PM
123	yes most emphatically	Aug 3, 2010 1:01 PM
124	Yes	Aug 3, 2010 1:01 PM
125	Generally agree	Aug 3, 2010 1:01 PM
126	agree	Aug 3, 2010 1:07 PM
127	Agree: But you must remember that it is not all the DINO fault. This has been coming for years. With the internet the word is out there for all to read. A lot of people are waking up BUT not enough.	Aug 3, 2010 1:08 PM
128	I agree, but I do not believe that they have stated the situation in serious enough terms: they vastly understate it. They are stating that his actions "will" do such and such (such as bankrupt the FedGov), but in reality, the actions HAVE already done so. Indeed, the Constitution has been rendered null and void: it is a dead letter. The immediate and long-term effects are cataclysmic and possibly irreversible. We are seeing the damage grow daily, state by state and county by county. The fear and uncertainty are obvious and growing daily.	Aug 3, 2010 1:11 PM

129	yes, agree, As a retiree I have the time and desire to follow closely what has been happening to the country, and am very concerned. I am not fearful because I know better people will not allow this to continue, and sooner rather than later, potus and his cohorts will be routed from the government, and our elected officeholders, at many levels of government will be finally held accountable for their actions. Even sitting dems are starting to realize they will be packing if they don't reign in the activities of their more radical associates.	Aug 3, 2010 1:16 PM
130	Yes, but I believe we are being goaded into a fight we cannot win - materially or philosophically. A fight will give bho and his ilk the grounds they can use with the press and sheeple to enact more draconian laWs and control.	Aug 3, 2010 1:20 PM
131	I agree with these " very real " fears that the author has!! The present administration will try to neuter the United States and make us into a socialist nation if we dont try to stop it!! Every freedom we know will be changed!!!	Aug 3, 2010 1:26 PM
132	I agree, these guys in Washington are ignoring the constitution whenever the can and when they cant ignore it, they bypass it to move their agenda forward.	Aug 3, 2010 1:31 PM
133	I agree with the authors fears. President Obama and his Democratic Congress have passed legislation such as stimulus spending, bailouts of banks and private companies, rationed mandatory health care insurance, while the American People do not support them. Legislators who disagreed with these programs were bribed into voting for them and one, Dennis Kucinich, was given a ride in Air Force One which convinced him to vote for the Health Care Bill. Apparently the congressman was the only one who didn't understand that the Health Care Plan would lead ultimately to a single payer system. He has appointed radical Marxist Socialists to czar positions and expanded the Federal Bureaucracy immensely with no support from the American People.	Aug 3, 2010 1:34 PM
134	I agree, Obama will be like a wounded rat.	Aug 3, 2010 1:35 PM
135	I agree with the authors because it is all true from my perspective.	Aug 3, 2010 1:35 PM
136	No, because it is right wing fear mongering. George W. Bush is the reason for our economic mess. Obama inherited his two wars and is doing the best he can. He turned the car companies around. And he cares for the little people. I am one of those little people. And I vote.	Aug 3, 2010 1:43 PM
137	Agree. Because the man who is president is not a "natural born citizen" of the US. He is also a Marxist Communist and Moslem who hates American Capitalism and America and her people.	Aug 3, 2010 1:47 PM
138	I agree. I have never in my life seen such open and blatant disregard for our laws and the constitution.	Aug 3, 2010 1:51 PM
139	Anything can, and will, happen. If I am prepared for the worst, and hope for it not to happen, I find it easier to live and enjoy my quality of life, as it is. If I am constantly wringing my hands and sitting on pins and needles expecting the worst to happen TODAY, then I am miserable. I'd rather, in the words of Shakespeare, die just once, not a thousand times before my death, thank you very much. Whatever happens, happens. I'm prepared for some bad stuff, but not obsessing over it.	Aug 3, 2010 1:52 PM
140	I mostly agree due to the facts that some have already become ingrained within the beauocracy of the government with willing participants at high levels of authority who wholeheartedly agree with and actively pursue the implementation and protection of such plans.	Aug 3, 2010 1:56 PM
141	I very much agree. Hand writting is on the wall.	Aug 3, 2010 2:04 PM
142	I do agree with most of the article. Even 2010 will not allow us to vote enough of the better politicians into office. This alien-Marxist who some call our president has put things into motion that will be difficult to stop or undo. Most of the results of the current administration will lead to economic and social collapse. I hope we have enough people who are strong and take a stand when the time comes.	Aug 3, 2010 2:04 PM
143	Agree, you can see the beginning of these things already.	Aug 3, 2010 2:05 PM

Response Text
144	I agree somewhat with the fears. I suspect the cause has less to do with Obama than expressed and I wouldn't let Bush off so lightly	Aug 3, 2010 2:08 PM
145	I agree with the authors. Sadly the presidency has steadily become more imperial since Lincoln and his unjust war on the southern states, and is now positively despotic in its power.	Aug 3, 2010 2:12 PM
146	I agree	Aug 3, 2010 2:18 PM
147	For the most part, yes. The national debt and inflation have both become so endemic that there is no long-term method by which to avoid imminent collapse.	Aug 3, 2010 2:22 PM
148	I agree with the authors - their fears are well justified. The "rule of law" upon which our nation is built, founded in the Constitution, is being dismantled. The end result will be our enslavement, if not turned around. My personal belief is that the Constitution will "hang by a thread" and will not be saved except by the great sacrifice and blood of patriots. Only when the God who grants us our life and blessings is honored and our nation becomes once again God-fearing will we be saved from our nation's demise.	Aug 3, 2010 2:26 PM
150	I Agree//// obama is worst than any one knows He is another Hitler x10 his whole family will work to destroy America. ALL White and Jews will die under obama,only muslim will live. Latino will also die after he uses them for his gain.He will turn his back on Israel. the world is in bed with the most evil government administration on earth.Soon there will be a revolution larger than any revolution the world has ever seen and America will rebuild even greater than before with a lesson learned the hard way. God will be put back in schools,homes,work places and people will find time to pray like never before. Americans Dept of Justice will be destroyed as we know it and it will be rebuilt and those now in power will be in Prison Camps or executed. God will be our Salvation and our power.	Aug 3, 2010 2:39 PM
151	Yes, I agree. Everything the authors said is true and Obama is trying to destroy America. If the present administration is not removed, and soon, the country will never recover from Obama's actions.	Aug 3, 2010 2:41 PM
153	agree,i agree on the grounds that the constitution is being violated,and it seems as though the constitution is being dismantled and ignored. First and foremost prove or disprove facts concerning mr.Obama's birth place.and then follow the rules of the constitution.	Aug 3, 2010 2:42 PM
154	I agree. Obama is a socialist/Marxist, and is following the program of Marx. I am a Christian, and God's Word (the Bible) and socialism/Marxism are contrary to the Bible, therefore I reject them en toto. Tyrants need to be stood up against.	Aug 3, 2010 2:42 PM
155	yes i do agree and what can i do about it? we have a runaway government and i am not sure that it can be stopped.	Aug 3, 2010 2:47 PM
156	Agree. We have radically departed from the core values as found in the Bible that are responsible for the success of the west.	Aug 3, 2010 2:50 PM
157	Agree for the most part.	Aug 3, 2010 3:00 PM
158	The article gives a pass to all the anti-constitutional, anti-liberty actions taken by Republicans and seems to focus solely on Democrats. This is a huge mistake, as globalist-collectivism pervades both wings of 'the party', e.g. the Republican and Democrat wing. As to the potential for an uprising, you bet I agree.	Aug 3, 2010 3:03 PM
159	I agree with the fears based on actions such as the auto industry take-over, "czar" creation, total lack of concern for the public's opinion in the case of health care. There were also many blatant lies that I really don't want to get into.	Aug 3, 2010 3:05 PM

160	Black author, Dr. of Economics, and libertarian writer Dr. Walter Williams recently wrote an interesting article. Badly paraphrasing his important piece he stated there comes a time in human relations where the differences in beliefs, philosophies, goals and morals are so vastly disparate, compromise becomes impossible. Continued co-existence can only be achieved by one party forcing its will on the other. This is the time when separation of the parties is better for all concerned. This observation is true both on the micro-scale, when couples divorce and on the national scales - such as when Norway PEACEFULLY separated from Sweden.	Aug 3, 2010 3:06 PM
161	Yes. I believe that our elected officials no longer respect the people they are supposed to represent. I think they are too secure in their positions and that they represent far too many people. Perhaps if there were 10 times the number of representatives, there might be some actual representation.	Aug 3, 2010 3:10 PM
162	I very much agree with the authors. We have elected the enemy. Ask one question, "If you wanted to destroy America, what would you do differently?" The end result of every action that the Obama regime takes destroys individual freedoms and increases the power of the federal bureaucracy.	Aug 3, 2010 3:15 PM
163	I generally agree with them...	Aug 3, 2010 3:17 PM
164	Yes.	Aug 3, 2010 3:18 PM
165	I agree whole heartedly.	Aug 3, 2010 3:29 PM
166	Agree. I've been following Ron Paul's career since I lived in Texas in the 70's and 80's.	Aug 3, 2010 3:35 PM
167	Absolutely	Aug 3, 2010 3:43 PM
168	Yes. The present Executive and Legislative branches of the US government have manipulated circumstances to the point where the USA is in a rapidly escalating spiral toward poverty and ineptness. He has thumbed his nose at the Judeo-Christian backbone of the nation and the mechanisms which have been proven to be instrumental in maintaining a great and powerful world-leading country and substituted a system of rewarding people for non-prosperity & laziness, many of which are non-citizens and do not even have a right to many of the handouts and benefits being doled out. His foresight is lacking, in that he has not envisioned the ultimate outcome of when there are eventually too few prosperous & industrious people remaining to bankroll the fragile system he is attempting to create, the bottom will fall out, like it has already for many other countries, and the USA will be nothing more than most of the other countries in the world which have been helped by the USA, because they themselves have no hope to help themselves.	Aug 3, 2010 3:44 PM
169	I agree. I do not require my government to protect me from myself or to legislate parameters of my personal morals. I do not want my government to protect me from "predatory-lenders" or poorly-run automobile manufactures. I do not want socialized medical care or socialized government, socialized industry or socialized education. I agree with the authors because this is not speculative whining, but current events.	Aug 3, 2010 3:44 PM
170	Yes. But it's not true that "George W. Bush stood up for America". Far from it.	Aug 3, 2010 3:52 PM
171	Yes-----the present and past record is clear, the Constitution is no longer relevant.	Aug 3, 2010 4:04 PM
172	Absolutely agree. This the most dangerous time in America since the Revolutionary War.	Aug 3, 2010 4:11 PM
173	agree, Taxes and redistribution of wealth will kill whats left of our economy, unfortunately the masses have invited the government to interfere with our lives too long.... Personal responsibility is key, we can make better decisions than the government..... If they ignore our wishes vote 'em out.....	Aug 3, 2010 4:13 PM

174	I concur wholeheartedly. That he has already shown the propensity to use the Executive Order for his own benefit is enough to make the people, as apposed to the SHEEPLE who follow him as of he was a Shepard, wake up and start preparing for what is to come.	Aug 3, 2010 4:15 PM
175	For the most part I agree, it does seem that the POTUS is a bit over the top in his wish to fundamentally change the face of America, that Im not happy with, I grew up here, my father and uncles fought for this nation, as did I in Vietnam, I didnt fight for the idea of fundamentally change this nation from what it was that I loved to what it is someone else thinks it should be with such a slanted socialistic view.Those were the views that brought us to war to begin with.	Aug 3, 2010 4:17 PM
176	From the weakening of the free press, the destruction of the middle class, the take over of our children, a military that seems to be comanded by officers that are not faithful to thier oath, a court that has not yet fallen but likely will. The list of telling things is endless, November 2010 is very important and the forcefullness of a new congress/senate will be more than important, 2012 is a must or I believe that we are lost as we stand	Aug 3, 2010 4:19 PM
177	Yes. Because every action he has taken are anti-business, anti- capitalist & redistributive.	Aug 3, 2010 4:24 PM
178	Agree! When America is transformed, it will no longer be America.	Aug 3, 2010 4:27 PM
179	Agree...The radical left Democrats have hijacked the country and Obama is willingly/gladly pushing them even more to the left on a socialist agenda	Aug 3, 2010 4:29 PM
180	I agree. Because all of the things I never thought could happen here, are happening. And I believe the liberals have been planning this take-over for years, it is just culminating faster than anyone imagined.	Aug 3, 2010 4:35 PM
181	I agree. People are tired of being ruled. We want government of the people,by the people and for the people.	Aug 3, 2010 4:42 PM
182	I agree. The reason I agree is that it is transparently obvious that the current administration's goal is to collapse the U.S. economy and to take over governance without the hindrance of the checks and balances devised by our founding fathers. No one in the Legislative or Judicial Branch seems willing to challenge the Executive Branch on the constitutionality of these actions.	Aug 3, 2010 4:46 PM
183	I agree with the authors, if one keeps track of what is going on, then they can clearly see that Obama is making a huge power grab in our country and most of our elected republican politicians don't have the courage and perseverance to fight hard enough to WIN. I hear people say that Obama is stupid but that is a grave error. He has to bring America to our knees and divide us financially, geographically, racially so that we are too busy fighting among ourselves to notice that our freedoms are being eroded on a daily basis by a despotic soon to be tyrannical govt. Obama is a genius & if we underestimate his abilities then we are doomed.....Raphael	Aug 3, 2010 4:52 PM
184	I agree, Obama apparently has an agenda to make himself "Supreme Dictator" in America. He cannot attack the Constitution directly, so he is attempting to subvert it by making industry and business reliant upon the federal government.	Aug 3, 2010 5:00 PM
186	I agree. I would, however, not call them fears. They are facts.	Aug 3, 2010 5:10 PM
187	By and large, yes. I'm no economist, but it seems to me that the current administration's policies are socialist (ironically, when most of the formerly socialist nations are moving away from collectivism).	Aug 3, 2010 5:13 PM
188	I agree, I worry that our government is in the process of destroying our Republic overall -- our system of government, our freedoms, our economy and the future of my children. Furthermore, I believe that they are doing it intentionally and against the will of The People. Those politicians are elected to represent our interests, and they take an oath to the Constitution... they are in violation of their oath.	Aug 3, 2010 5:16 PM

189	Unfortunately, I agree. They state the obvious chronology of what is actually occurring in my country.	Aug 3, 2010 5:25 PM
190	Disagree!	Aug 3, 2010 5:35 PM
191	Yes I agree, because you can see the writing on the wall.	Aug 3, 2010 5:43 PM
192	100% agree. I have already pointed out in one of my own writings that the 2010 election will not stop Obama's demonic grip on America. But, of course, I am only a local taxpaying, true patriotic citizen of Paragould, AR which nobody is going to listen to. I wrote a song in 1986 that has this line, "we must turn back to God or be ruled by a TYRANT'S rod", 1986 mind you, but still I am considered by many as not being a true Christian simply because I say we must take our country back by armed revolt. I've been saying this for over 25 years. The rest of the country is just now catching on.	Aug 3, 2010 5:44 PM
193	Agree. Socialism always fails.	Aug 3, 2010 5:47 PM
194	agree	Aug 3, 2010 5:49 PM
195	I agree with the fears. I can see the fall of the American republic if Obama is not removed. He is not so much as hiding his agenda	Aug 3, 2010 5:53 PM
196	I wholeheartedly agree. Our leaders in Washington are only jockeying for better positions after the collapse. The current President has no allegiance to this Great Nation or its Constitution. His only allegiance is to his ideology.	Aug 3, 2010 5:56 PM
197	Agree. Obama's political background was right out there for everyone to see. Mentored by Frank Davis , a known communist. A follower of Alinskys" Rules for radicals" a known communist agitator. Member of a church pastored by a left wing radical hater of all white people, for 20 years. Financed by people like Soros, one of the most immoral people in the public domain. Communists, once in power, do not let go of that power unless forceably removed from power by a revolution. Things could get dicey.	Aug 3, 2010 5:57 PM
198	Agree. Obama was put in power by a fixed "election" to destroy the USA from within, as no one can do it from without. We are the last bastion of freedom standing in the way of a global socialist dictatorship.	Aug 3, 2010 6:05 PM
199	Agree. The President has his agenda and will put it in place without the consent of the people. He is acting like a puppet. The media is controlled by the same person or persons.	Aug 3, 2010 6:24 PM
200	I wholeheartedly agree with the fears of the authors. I see our current situation as not 2010USA (as created by our Founders) but as 1932 pre-Nazi Germany. With deflation, then hyperinflation in our near future, the America we grew up in (I'm 55) is being actively flushed down the toilet by the Progressives. It has taken them over 100 years to pull it off, but they are finally there, I'm afraid.	Aug 3, 2010 6:35 PM
201	Yes, I agree that the traditional checks and balances of our system are no longer working as designed. The executive branch has far more power than the Constitution allows for, while congress has essentially abdicated its role and sold out to multinational corporate interests. Nobody speaks for the people anymore.	Aug 3, 2010 6:42 PM
202	I agree! Our nation has been strapped with a debt that we can never repudiate. Obama is not just redefining the middle class he is ending it. Plus the police state tactics of an over-reaching government has made it to Hicksville Illinois where I live. A friend of mine was tasered and beaten because he didn't lick boots fast enough and he is a millionaire oil man It is obvious to all but the lamest among us that our nation is dieing and will not be saved until we the people take the necessary street actions to restore it.	Aug 3, 2010 6:43 PM
203	I agree to a certain extent. A redistribution of wealth is needed to preserve the middle and working classes from extinction. For the last 30 years the corporations have looted America. That has to be stopped and reversed, but not through socialism!	Aug 3, 2010 6:48 PM

204	1) Yes, I agree with the fears of the authors. I hope that we can turn around what has been done but I don't know if it will happen quickly enough for the growing mass of people who have been awakened to the loss of their freedoms.	Aug 3, 2010 6:52 PM
205	I agree with most of them. I think that a new congress could slow down the transformation if we elect people who will actually listen to the will of the people and have a moral center. The courts are also still an option that could shut down some some the freight train the country is watching. Keep in mind the fears in this article applies not just to Obama to any and all future presidents.	Aug 3, 2010 6:56 PM
207	Yes. It has been obvious since he took office, that this man is trying to push a socialist, totalitarian agenda.	Aug 3, 2010 7:24 PM
208	I agree with the authors. There are too many that have come to believe that they can have "something for nothing." The problem is that, with government, the bill is not due when the benefits are received. The bill comes due much later. Thus, we are mortgaging our children's future.	Aug 3, 2010 7:36 PM
209	I agree with the fears but to say George Bush did anything good is a complete falsehood unless you like the fact he lowered taxes for the 1% who own 2/3'rds of the wealth in this country and was the king of signing statements. A man who drew us into totally unnecessary wars and spent money on the welfare/warfare/bankster elite by robbing the poor and what used to be a middle class that for all practical purposes no longer exists, sent more jobs overseas and created more enemies than anyone before him every had. If you think that's a good record, you have lost your minds. Of course Obama is ruining this country from within just as every predecessor he had since JFK. I'd say the authors of this article have very selective memory and just trip on some things they say. Obama inherited a crumbling empire and has done nothing to help, just continued the same status quo.	Aug 3, 2010 7:44 PM
210	I totally agree with the authors & article. I think the last year plus under the "self-annointed messiah" should make it clear to anyone but the blind on where he intends to take us and this country. Pure marxist-style socialism!! As long as this tyrant has unlimited access to "executive orders", he can pretty much run the show as he sees fit!	Aug 3, 2010 7:44 PM
212	I agree, as I hear more and more people getting really upset with this administration's "bullying" methods!	Aug 3, 2010 8:24 PM
213	I agree with some of the fears, though I think they are the "worst case scenario". There are many backdoor plans that this president has and is using as we speak, but I think that most americans are starting to not like where we are headed.	Aug 3, 2010 8:40 PM
214	Yes. I'm not blind, nor am I mentally challenged.	Aug 3, 2010 8:42 PM
215	yes	Aug 3, 2010 8:43 PM
216	Yes I agree with the fears expressed by the authors, because I see thru the smoke scream put out by the Gov. they know that we are in a very bad situation and the steps taken so far are only going to make worse.	Aug 3, 2010 9:03 PM
217	Yes, I am came the US from England and I have seen all this before. Socialized medicine, high taxes, unconstrained welfare. Once you have it, you cant get rid of it, ask Tony Blare. Taxes rise and living standards fall. The deterioration of the middle class will and the jobs that socio-economic group supports.	Aug 3, 2010 9:15 PM
218	Yes. The author's arguments are obviously true - just study the news.	Aug 3, 2010 9:18 PM

219	In general I agree with most of this article. However I do sense that the author has missed the main point. The main point is to get our federal government to return to a constitutional form of government. The article reads, in many places, like the author would be very happy if our government was right wing and conservative. The issue is not left right, Democrat Republican, or liberal conservative. The issue is legislators and the executive who do not uphold their oath of office and follow the Constitution. Bear in mind this important fact. It was not a left wing, liberal, Democrat that signed the Patriot Act which gutted are Constitution.	Aug 3, 2010 9:18 PM
220	Agree with the authors for the reasons expressed and the fact that the "Fool in the White House" has surrounded himself with communists and socialists	Aug 3, 2010 9:19 PM
221	agree too much power in government	Aug 3, 2010 9:37 PM
222	I agree 100%. there are 3 ways to control people. 1. Military dictatorship. 2. Keep people in a state of fear. 3. Use fear to control individual wealth. I have seen 2 and 3 used succesfully in small and large cities,states and countries around the world. It is being done here. If Obama can't succeed with 2 and 3, he will create bloody race/class warfare so that he can bring in the military and become number 1. Not unlike Hugo Chavez.	Aug 3, 2010 9:45 PM
223	I agree with the authors view and more so. Obama is reaching so far outside the Constitutional box that it's frighteningand worse is the lack of response from Congress and "the people".	Aug 3, 2010 9:49 PM
224	Agree, because these fears are mostly FACT!	Aug 3, 2010 9:53 PM
225	I strongly agree with the authors. I've watched this country devolve from the number 1 status of Liberty and Freedom, to on-rushing second-(or third?)- world status.	Aug 3, 2010 10:22 PM
226	I absolutely agree with all of what the authors of this article are saying. Much of which, I have been saying right along, but continually hear "they can't do that"! Well, they CAN, and they ARE! A good deal of Americans, having led such comfortable lifes, do not believe that anyone would ever do what Obama is doing. So they make excuses, and allow him to continue. Scott Brown, who was raised to a savior-like status in Massachusetts, because of his Conservative status, was the deciding vote in the Dodd-Frank Bill. Once in Washington, he seems to have "lost his way". One of the greatest problems is that those with the guts to do the right thing, don't have the power, and those who have the power, don't have the guts, because somehow they think that they can live on in their fairytale lives, and they don't want to do anything that they feel will hurt them personally. So, how do the now powerless take back their Country? An all out Revolution may be the only way, provided they have not been weakened and divided in the meantime.	Aug 3, 2010 10:31 PM

228	Yes, I Agree... It is that simple! Our Great Nation is Based Upon Three Basic Written Works of Freedom. 1. The Declaration of Independence. 2. The Constitution of the United States. 3. The Bill Of Rights... All of which, follow a moral and intellectual pathway, which have sustained and upheld Our Nation for over 200 Years... Each of these documents are in Accord, Agree and Adhere...The Freedoms that all our Citizens are to recognize and enjoy... It is implicitly based upon the Rule of Law by Righteousness... Which is G-D Given, Respected and Upheld by all who abide by civil law and all who are in civil office...In any jurisdiction of our United States...Our Freedoms sustain and ensure equal strength between Federal, State, and Individual powers, with those of the Individual Citizen being paramount! Because when "Freedom Reigns" instead of an individual or a select group.. For in our Nation.. Not a single Person, Nor a Congress, or Group of people can dominate or enslave another! ...For we are many Creeds.. Recognized as "One Nation Under God" Indivisible, With Liberty and Justice for all! Let us listen to these words of wisdom.. And Our Nation, Blessed upon the entire Earth to be recognized as a model to be emulated... Not compromised !	Aug 3, 2010 10:40 PM
229	Yes, agree. Because these power hungry in the "government" pu themself before the rest of us whomk they are aworn to serve.	Aug 3, 2010 10:40 PM
230	I agree. I have been in fear of some sort of mass resistance becoming nessessary for some time now. Though I have no desire for it. If I were to have to select a single main problem with our country it would have to be a lack of accountability by elected officials. I have attended numerous tea parties and town hall meetings. I run into the same problem at all of them, to many issues. While most are of significant importance, little is ever done about any of them because people usually only have time and energy to stand up for the issue most dear to themselves. Why oh why can we not set all of these issues aside, just for a little while and consolidate on one single issue? I suggest that issue be the insertion of a constitutional ammendment requiring a None of the Above lever in the ballot box. With the stipulation that should NOA prevail, both candidates would be permanently barred from ever contending for public office again. Since it dosen't appear to me that such will ever come to pass, it seems most certain the time will come when taxation will render it pointless to go to work. Then all that people have worked for will begin to disappear. When enough of us have nothing left to lose, the time will be ripe.	Aug 3, 2010 10:53 PM
231	I absolutely agree. The president has many powers, not the least of which is the power of the veto and executive orders. The tools of our destruction, including Obamacare and the banking legislation are already in place.	Aug 3, 2010 10:53 PM
232	disagree because they make it rosier than what it will be.	Aug 3, 2010 11:10 PM
233	YES	Aug 3, 2010 11:11 PM
234	I agree wholeheartedly, I've been saying this to everyone who is in my circle of contact since the Islamist assumed the presidency. He is a Jihadist of the Smartest Order and I believe our way of life is on the wane. Being 75 years old I may not see the end, but, as sure as Hitler took over Europe, Obama will destroy this country.	Aug 3, 2010 11:16 PM

235	I absolutely agree. In fact I believe the authors understate the danger that this current president represents. I think we have here an egotistical, megalomaniacal, political gangster. He espouses Chicago-style politics, with all of its attendant corruption and thuggery. He is a man with lots of behind-the-scenes enablers. And the people who put this man in power are certainly even more dangerous than he is. That being said, I think Obama is exactly the catalyst needed to bring about a resurgence of true patriotic Americans who, I believe, still compose the overwhelming majority in this country. It is an ill wind that blows no good, and I believe the ill wind which swept a man like Obama into the White House will blow over like a tornado. And like a tornado, he will destroy everything in his path. But from the rubble, a new and better country will be rebuilt. America will rise again like the Phoenix from the ashes left by Obama. But for the next few years, we will live in "interesting times."	Aug 3, 2010 11:29 PM
236	I agree. I believe it may be a military coup that relieves our nation or most military men and women joining a revolution. Most of them take their oath very seriously and are watching.	Aug 3, 2010 11:37 PM
237	Yes, the facts speak for themselves, we the people aren't in charge anymore.	Aug 3, 2010 11:46 PM
238	Disagree-- Obama is not prefect but frankly I think the bigger problems lie in the legislature.	Aug 3, 2010 11:48 PM
239	Yes	Aug 3, 2010 11:51 PM
240	Agree. The current administration is leading the people to a land of promises they can't keep. Ethics and work order have been diminished.	Aug 3, 2010 11:51 PM
241	Absolutely I agree. It is clear Obama's policies will have long term negative reperussions. The American people will only stand for this so long.	Aug 4, 2010 12:56 AM
242	The members of the Second American Revolution are already in play. The damage that Obama has caused will result in the first American President to face the ultimate penalty. When Americans see their relatives and friends die because of "rationed" health care, and are crushed by excessive taxes and joblessness - this will be the trip wire that will cause the Revolution to begin. The starting points will surprisingly be in the big cities in California, New York, and Florida, followed by cities in the most depressed areas. Whites and blacks will rise together against the Government, and the illegal aliens who posses American jobs, degenerating into first: civil disobedience, then open warfare. The Military has been so far reduced through budget cuts, that if "Posse Comitatus" is suspended, those that have the will to fire into their own fellow countrymen will be few, and many will cross the boundaries of ethical behavior to join the Revolution.	Aug 4, 2010 1:23 AM
243	Both agree and disagree... Bush was no friend to freedom. and the 2012 elections are not decided yet... other than those two items I agree	Aug 4, 2010 1:25 AM
244	I Agree with the fears expressed by the authors, never before has America been subjected to the insidious evil of choco Jesus. The President was never intended to be much more than a figurehead for our country, excepting times of war or some national emergency. Where does He get off, firing the head of GM and simply replacing him with some numbskull he picked from his ass? How bout his way of bribing Senators to vote for the Bullshit Heath Care fiasco. I'm certainly not rich, but I can afford my own health insurance- Besides, as I see it if we didn't have all these illegal aliens sucking off our Country, I bet there could be plenty of benefits available to the real Tax-Paying Citizens here! Fuck, I could go on all damn day long, but who has the balls to really do something, anything?!	Aug 4, 2010 2:35 AM
245	Absolutely	Aug 4, 2010 2:35 AM
246	Yes, BUT Congress has for too long given the Executive Branch too much Regulatory power; and, abrogated its legislative authority. Also, Congress still retains the power of the purse to defund any action by the Executive. And, the States can still act to Nulify federal actions.	Aug 4, 2010 2:47 AM

Response Text
247	Yes, I do, because they are in line with what I'm seeing so far. My impression of the new HealthCare provisions--to the limited extent that I believe I understand them at all--is that they are intensely socialist, for example.	Aug 4, 2010 3:56 AM
248	Agree, They are reading the 'writing on the wall'.	Aug 4, 2010 4:08 AM
249	Yes, I agree because the shift in power to the executive branch has been gaining momentum for many years. The congress is totally out of touch with the people - there is not even a pretense that they represent us. A shift from D to R has not shown much difference in recent history.	Aug 4, 2010 4:22 AM
250	Agree. The impostor in the White house won't show the long form birth certificate to prove he's even eligible for that office. Government Motors- By fiat, GM was ordered to close dealerships. I can't even keep track of all the impositions of tyranny that has been coming from Washington, DC (District of Criminals)	Aug 4, 2010 6:36 AM
251	Yes, I agree with the authors and I will add something that I hope won't happen but won't be the least bit surprised if it does. I believe it is a strong possibility that Obama will attempt to use martial law or some other dirty trick to postpone the 2012 elections indefinitely, thereby making himself president for life. or should we say Presidente/Emperor/Chairman/Caliph?	Aug 4, 2010 8:14 AM
252	Agree no matter how much the "free" press is white-washing what is being perpetrated by Washington right now it is glaringly obvious that a socialist coup of our Republic is underway.	Aug 4, 2010 8:41 AM
253	yes	Aug 4, 2010 10:40 AM
254	I agree	Aug 4, 2010 11:08 AM
255	I agree. Either the Constitution is the "supreme law of the land" or we exist at the whim of legislative overreach, judicial fiat, and executive decree. Abuses of power in our constitutinal republic have existed since Alexander Hamilton convinced George Washington to wage war on the sovereign citizens of this country in what is commonly referred to as the Whiskey Rebellion. However, the liberties of "We, the People" have never before faced absolute destruction until today. Habeus Corpus negated (George W. Bush), "Free Speech" Zones instituted(William J. Clinton, warrantless searches and seizures under Patriot Acts I & II (George W. Bush), Posse Comitatus dissolved (George W. Bush), and the constitutional limitations on government control over the ownership of private property turned on its head, re. Kelo v. New London, CT (George W. Bush). Obamacare, TARP, and the federal takeover of entire segments of our economy industries are but the latest in an ever-escalating string of abuses.	Aug 4, 2010 11:26 AM
256	I agree with the fears expressed by the authors because these are the same fears I've had for over a year.	Aug 4, 2010 12:12 PM
257	I agree with the author, and share the same fears. I grew up in Chicago, in a family whose favorite local "sport" was Chicago/Illinois politics. I watched Obama's rise to power, especially in liberal bastions like Oak Park, IL. At that time, I expressed my serious misgivings, and was brushed off as a "conservative racist nutjob" (I'm a libertarian), and it seemed as though no one took my concerns seriously. Here we are, a few years later, and it's even worse than I anticipated. Absolute power corrupts absolutely, and people stood by as Obama seized power, and now they still stand by, wringing their hands, struggling with cognitive dissonance.	Aug 4, 2010 1:59 PM
258	Agree 100%! I have been saying the same since BEFORE he was elected.	Aug 4, 2010 2:21 PM
259	I Agree that the President has to much power and the same thing can be said about congress. Look at how much unrelated crap is included in most bills.	Aug 4, 2010 2:33 PM
260	this resgime is poised to turn the U S into a socolist country, run by a few people who think the public are to igorant to make decisions by themselves.	Aug 4, 2010 2:41 PM
261	yes, it's already happening	Aug 4, 2010 2:45 PM

Response Text
262	I agree the fears are a real and present danger to all Americans who love freedom, and liberty. I do not recall which elite banker said it but he said "I care not who is making laws. If I control peoples money I am in charge." I beleive that is what he said. Obama being a puppet for the elist bankers is doing their business for them. What better way to destroy a culture and control a Nations people than from traitors within. Control all money first, then the food sources. It is happening now.	Aug 4, 2010 2:48 PM
263	About Obama? Yes. Bush and Clinton both had a heavy hand in setting the stage for Obama. The reality is that the military/industrial complex Eisenhower and Kennedy warned us about has stolen control of the Federal Government. The "War on Terror" is a "Put Up Job" to justify evil at home and abroad. The "Patriot Act" is a tool for silencing opposition to the military/industrial complex.	Aug 4, 2010 2:54 PM
265	I agree because most of the information sources I trust are telling the identical story; i.e., Mr. Obama seems to be pushing his personal agenda and not an agenda that is best for the country. I agree because in the last 20 years, the office of the President of the United States of America has usurped powers and been granted powers (out of ignorance?) by Congress. I agree because Congress seems to be totally out of touch with the desires of the majority of Americans and fear only one thing - not being re-elected.	Aug 4, 2010 4:00 PM
266	I agree with the authors on all counts. This man in the highest seat in the nation is effectively destroying our country from within. I think that "we the people" have been asleep at the helm for too long and allowed the lying weasels in Washington to get the better part of us. We have allowed the indoctrination of the masses via the school system for too long and now it has come back to bite us in the rear. When it comes to our freedoms and our rights, there should be no compromise whatsoever. I am a Cuban-American and know what it is like to lose your country to the evils of a man bent on destruction for self glory. I think that government has grown way too big.	Aug 4, 2010 4:04 PM
267	Yes, the growth of big government and that of entitlement, through welfare and public pensions, is contrary to the founding fathers establishment of our great country.	Aug 4, 2010 4:13 PM
268	Yes, before and since 9/11, which I believe to have been a False Flag Op, The Patriot Act has given a President unlimited unconstitutional power. The people no longer matter.	Aug 4, 2010 4:35 PM
269	I totally agree - these are real threats happening right now totally against the will of We The People.	Aug 4, 2010 5:55 PM
270	Agree.	Aug 4, 2010 7:30 PM
271	Yes, the dots are connected pretty well	Aug 4, 2010 8:08 PM
272	Agree	Aug 4, 2010 10:08 PM
273	first of all the fact that obama headed the security council at the united nations is in itself grounds under the constitution for him to be removed from office,he and just about all whom he has appointed to various positions in his cabinet,supreme court ,czars etc. are all domestic enemys of the constitution and should be removed from their perspective offices.you take a vow to uphold the constitution you better fulfill it or out you go.federal reserve gone,federal income tax gone,no bailouts,no golden parachutes, and we need to have term limits to keep all this constitutional rape from happening.	Aug 4, 2010 10:28 PM
274	I think some of the fears are party related! We do have problems and some of them are caused by ourselves, our own greed and lack of knowing what is wrong or right. The country is going down hill as the way I see it and alot of people in my generation feel the the same way. Yes, the debt is a very bad problem and future generations will be paying for it!	Aug 4, 2010 11:44 PM

275	I agree with the article. I believe that history will show him to be the worst President ever. He is trying to fundamentally change the republic to a socialist welfare system.	Aug 5, 2010 12:11 AM
276	Of course. Obama has done everything I feared he would if elected but says he isn't and fools everywhere agree.	Aug 5, 2010 12:33 AM
277	Agree. This president has already exercised unconstitutional powers, with NO congressional or judicial intervention. The media will NOT cross him to report the truth to the American people. The American people have gotten too comfortable with feeding at the trough of "public" money and will gladly trade liberty for "security".	Aug 5, 2010 12:44 AM
278	Agree. The current masters of Washington DC have been waiting for decades to ascend to a position where they can impose their enlightened wisdom on the great unwashed masses who, as their standard-bearer so tellingly let slip, "... bitterly cling to guns and religion." Being the annointed saviors of mankind, anything they do is by defintion justified by their ultimate salvation of their benighted inferiors, i.e. us.	Aug 5, 2010 1:26 AM
279	Yes - accurate description of circumstances	Aug 5, 2010 1:55 AM
280	Yes,i agree,read deuteronomy 28 then leviticus 26,because of great national sins,our nation will be destroyed,	Aug 5, 2010 2:12 AM
281	I agree with the basic fears. What I absolutely do not agree with is that Bush, the Demented, did this land of ours any good whatsoever. Facts reveal that every action by this man - actually by his handlers - was as anti-American, anti-human rights, and certainly genocidal as any traitor to America has ever been. His and his handlers' lies led to hundreds of thousands of innocent deaths, and the near or complete destruction of two countries that had not done America any harm whatsoever. How anyone can support this lackey of the International bankers is way beyond my comprehension, except that they must ignore facts since the lies told and told and told again are much easier to believe, especially when the lies fit into one's belief system. Obama may top the Bush Administration and bankers' actions but only if two more countries are invaded and destroyed, with at least two million slaughtered and five to six million displaced from their homes. Until then, Obama is a horrible mistake that should be corrected along with the Zionists that control him, but he does not at this time top the actions carried out under the former administration.	Aug 5, 2010 2:24 AM
282	Yes to much govermet	Aug 5, 2010 1:44 PM
283	I agree. It seems obvious that Obama is out of control and running the country into the ground, at home and abroad	Aug 5, 2010 3:23 PM
284	Yes.	Aug 5, 2010 4:04 PM
285	I agree that the policies of the current president have not been beneficial to this country. I'm not sure what "fears" are expressed, however. The thesis statement that the internet is enabling "large-scale 'Commitees of Correspondence'" is never supported in the article, nor is the notion of a "second American revolution" strongly addressed.	Aug 5, 2010 5:58 PM
286	I agree and believe that the author has not gone far enough in describing the number of serious crimes this president has perpetrated against America and Americans. The Constitution has been violated and completly ignored.	Aug 5, 2010 6:05 PM

287	Yes, I strongly agree with the authors. America has had it's share of bad presidents but this mans damage is phenominal. I find it hard to believe that anyone thinks he's doing a good job, they either can't read, can't hear or, more probably, are one of the lazy americans seeking a free ride. I wish there was more that I could do to get him out of office but I feel as though my hands are tied. I can vote and believe me I will be at my polling place in November.	Aug 5, 2010 6:27 PM
288	agree It is only the facts	Aug 5, 2010 8:08 PM
289	I completely agree that this administration is out of control .The recent federal judge rullings that conflict with what the voters have voiced (California's same sex marriage rulling and Arizona's anti- illegal alien law) is proof that our voice and vote mean very little.They are saying in effect that the people may be right,what we(the federal government) are doing may be unconstitutional,but;we don't care.You are stupid and we are going to do what we think is best.(for themselves I'm sure) .Big bussiness and the banking elite have implimented these policies all over the world very succesfully.They control the governments. Obama is a mere puppet ,doing as his masters command.The "elite"are scared to death of the resistance the American people are starting to mount.They are going to try to shove all their tyranny through before the rest of this great nation is alerted to the danger.America has the means to fight back and fight back she will ! I don't look forward to the coming confrontation,but; like most true Americans , I will not back down.The only question is when a confrontation comes, not if .	Aug 5, 2010 8:33 PM
290	agree- it is obvious-worst feeling since '37 era!	Aug 5, 2010 9:39 PM
291	Yes. I think the left has been planning something for a long time.. and no good crisis can go to waste and there will be crisis after crisis.	Aug 5, 2010 9:46 PM
292	100% agree...	Aug 5, 2010 9:47 PM
293	Yes. Obama Hussein goes against every warning that the founding fathers and intelligent men have given him throughout history. He is a socialist.	Aug 6, 2010 12:57 AM
294	I totally agree! We have a radical Marxist in the whitehouse who is operating unchecked, and no one in congress seems to really understand or care what is going on. I believe that he is intent on systematically destroying our political and social underpinnings and constitutional principles. I believe that within my lifetime we will be faced with the option of loosing our liberty or choosing to fight.	Aug 6, 2010 2:00 AM
295	Yes to the assessment of the actions of the present 'rulers'; however, the best thing for us will be when the FRN ((federal reserve note) falls completely out of use; and some commodity /barter- bills/digital currency arise. The use of oil, gold, wheat, or any other REAL commodity can be facilitated by computers to moot the bastards currently engaged in ever more disruptive and enslaving policies.	Aug 6, 2010 2:13 AM
296	I agree as President Obama has issued presidential orders and worked with the Democrates in Congress to put trillions of dollars of debt on us and our children, and has pushed for a socialite government in the United States. I am afraid because he is selling America and destroying our constitution with his muslin ideas.	Aug 6, 2010 2:19 AM
297	I agree. Americans will reach the point where they will not take it anymore and either refuse to pay taxes, take up arms, or both.	Aug 6, 2010 3:58 AM
298	The authors' fears are my own about which direction the president is taking.	Aug 6, 2010 4:16 AM
299	I agree with the the authors because the American public has been dumbed down for so long most believe we are a democracy instead of a Constitutional Republic	Aug 6, 2010 7:46 AM
300	agree - the signs are obvious	Aug 6, 2010 1:12 PM

301	ABSOUTLEY, OBAMA { IS } GOING TO START ANOTHER REVOLUTION, & IT CERTAINLY IS NOT FAR AWAY !!! IN THE SHORT TIME HE HAS BEEN IN OFFICE, HE IS SCREWING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE VERY BADLY... I CERTAINLY WOULD NOT WANT TO BE HIS INSURANCE MAN & HAVE TO GIVE HIS WIFE A BIG CHECK !!! JUST TAKE A GUESS WHY YOU CAN HARDLY FIND AMMUNITION TO BUY FOR YOUR FIREARMS, & JUST WHY THE SALES OF FIREARMS HAS RISEN SO FAST THAT YOU CAN HARDLY FIND A GOOD ONE TO PURCHASE... I TRULY BELIEVE THAT THE { GOOD & SMART } AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE ALREADY SICK & FED UP WITH OBAMA, THE CONGRESS & SENATE !!! I CERTAINLY HOPE & PRAY ITs NOT TOO LATE FOR THEM TO ADHERE TO THE CONSTITION AS IT SUPPOSED TO BE. IF NOT, YOU CAN BE DEAD CERTAIN THOSE HIGH BROW BASTARDS WILL PAY DEARLY, & NOT WITH MONEY EITHER !!!	Aug 6, 2010 9:14 PM
302	Agree with both authors statements here.	Aug 7, 2010 1:30 AM
303	the author is correct.the illegal allien,islamic,communist,narcissistic usurping dictator barry soetoro,a.k.a. obama is fundamentally changing america.he is an extremely dangerous and evil s.o.b. i fear that the time is running out.at least some in the big business finally realize the peril we all are in.	Aug 7, 2010 4:41 AM
304	I agree but hope as I believe most others do that he will not force the issues to a point where this fear becomes reality. I agree because I believe in the facts and thoughts expressed by those on this site.	Aug 7, 2010 9:24 AM
305	I agree, but it will be much worse. The focus of the IBD article is naturally on the business side of things. The problems heading our way will be spread across all facets of society. I expect conflict in a number of areas, including religion, internal politics, rising vs fading empires, etc. In computer terms, I expect a BSOD, followed by a reboot at the very least.	Aug 7, 2010 1:30 PM
306	YES I agree with the authors!!!! You don't have to be an indain to read the sign that Oblabla leaves behind him.	Aug 7, 2010 2:36 PM
307	Yes I do agree with the fears of what is described	Aug 7, 2010 2:57 PM
308	I agree	Aug 7, 2010 3:31 PM
309	I agree Since the federal govt has become so corrupted and over reaching if it can't be pushed back via the states or the courts I believe that a shooting war could easily commence.	Aug 7, 2010 6:12 PM
310	Yes. The evidence is all around us. The American public for the most part still doesn't get it. More concerned about just surviving day to day. Do not see the big picture!	Aug 7, 2010 8:29 PM
311	Agree	Aug 8, 2010 1:19 AM
312	They wahington want total control. the people will nt stand for it. I will be a law abiding citizen until they make me into a criminal and then we the people will fight (civil war or worse.	Aug 8, 2010 2:05 AM
313	Agree. Obama is trying to dismantle our country ala Croward and Pivin	Aug 8, 2010 5:30 AM
314	It is obvious by what is going on in this country that the current administration is "up to something" and what they are doing is to undermine our country for a gigantic take over by a select few. The purpose at this point is unclear to me but I believe it is to usher in the one world government. I think they are trying to set themselves up for key positions in the one world government. That will not work, history tells us that when a new government takes over any and all current position holders are viewed as a threat and are done away with in one manner or another.	Aug 8, 2010 2:53 PM
316	I agree with the authors. nobama is destroying the economy and started doing so when wild bill clinton was president by forcing the affirmative action laws through which led to all the sub-prime balloon loans	Aug 8, 2010 7:30 PM

317	Yes, but not for most of the reasons they state they are clearly proto-fascists playing partisan politics who care not about our inalienable rights.	Aug 8, 2010 7:42 PM
318	I agree with the author on everything.	Aug 8, 2010 11:08 PM
319	I do.	Aug 9, 2010 12:39 AM
320	Fully agree. Every law passed adds to the power of government and takes away from the power of the people. Also every added tax is a business and job killer. Both from the business side because it stifles business growth and from the consumer side because consumers will have less money to spend or invest.	Aug 9, 2010 1:11 AM
321	AGREE/THE PRES IS A PUPPET FOR THE ELITE /NO JOKE/FALSE LEFT RIGHT PARADIAM/CAGE	Aug 9, 2010 3:36 AM
322	I agreee with the fears expressed by the authors and it all began for me when Obama was elected to the White House.	Aug 9, 2010 3:43 AM
323	I agree because their agenda seems obvious. It's as if they read Atlas Shrugged and The Forgotten Man and choose to do all the things normal people would associate with the wrong side, the evil side.	Aug 9, 2010 4:08 AM
324	I absolutely agree!	Aug 9, 2010 5:12 AM
325	totally agree with the authors----it has and will, happen exactly as they say. one has only to read the news, or better yet, watch it on Fox News and Fox business news.	Aug 9, 2010 8:30 PM
326	Yes! because I am watching it happen and can't understand why people are up in arms.	Aug 10, 2010 3:32 AM
327	agree	Aug 10, 2010 5:18 AM
328	Yes Obama is power hungry and breaks the constitution.	Aug 10, 2010 2:29 PM
329	Yes, Obama has shown a total disregard for the people he is answerable to. He won't be happy until he has broken this country.	Aug 10, 2010 4:23 PM
330	Agree, the constitution placed limits on government power and placed the remainder of the balance of power with the states and the people. The exact opposite is what we are witnessing today. I only pray the power of the ballot will prevail, as a true revolution would, in actuality, be a civil war. The last one was rather bloody if I do remember my history correctly, and like the last, all of the casualties will be American. Succeed, or fail, such a course is the least desirable and must be reserved as a last resort. Some wish only too gladly to jump to such horrific actions. We must retake the houses of higher learning, which have become refuges for socialistic, big government, and gun control thought mongers. Second, we must retake the media which only too readily tows the line for such anti-American sentiment. Lastly, we must retake our government from those who only wish to be a plurality of despots. None of the above will occur if no one with true a true moral compass, and a dedication to the constitution steps into the fray of the hostile environments of education, media, and politics. We have to do more than get out and vote, we have to roll up our sleeves and affect the changes ourselves.	Aug 10, 2010 8:57 PM
331	I agree.	Aug 11, 2010 12:38 AM
332	I think Barack Hussein Obama is the most detestable threat on the planet. The authors present an already out of control and unstoppable scenario that I don't totally agree with. I would hope that there are still people in Congress that care about this Country and will somehow bring this nightmare to a close. The plus about B. Hussein Obama is that people are waking up to the reality that America is in trouble and the Obama presidency must end, soon.	Aug 11, 2010 2:36 AM

333	i have agreed and feared what they describe for some time now; long before obama. g.w. bush and his "patriot act", and "signing statements" and so forth clearly told me we were in deep trouble, far beyond what any congress or political body could/would correct. neither of the two "top" parties is interested in the people. we need, actually are way past "need" to fire them all, from the top down, and try to reform an honest govt. that will answer to the people as originally intended. we must take control and re-institute the constitution as a starting point, and try to get it right this next time.	Aug 11, 2010 5:43 PM
334	Yes fully I wonder what the Government is going to do next to raise the debt, or limit our personal freedoms	Aug 11, 2010 6:12 PM
335	Yes, agree on everything to the point of exhaustion. In the past two I have witnessed this country go into a downward spiral that just seems to get tighter, and deeper. Yes 'some' can be contributed to others in the past; not all. Never have I seen such changes happen so rapidly and wonder 'how did this get passed or accomplished so rapidly'? Furhtermore cannot believe the actions of Washington.	Aug 11, 2010 6:21 PM
336	Agree. DC is totally out of touch with the rest of America.	Aug 11, 2010 7:36 PM
337	I'm afraid so - yes.	Aug 11, 2010 7:40 PM
338	I absolutely agree with the author.	Aug 12, 2010 1:03 PM
339	Agree - Obama continues to enact legislation conducive to the Roosevelt Administration. Gun control laws will break the camel's back.	Aug 12, 2010 7:29 PM
340	I only disagree with their perspective of George W. Bush and the 9-11 attacks. Bush only gave us the illusion that we were under attack. Lots of people in Washington knew al-Qaeda was planning the 9-11 attacks. They not only let the attacks happen, they helped with the planning and execution! WTC#7, which was a controlled demolition, is all the proof we need. No, Bush merely wanted the 9-11 attacks to happen so he could turn the US into a police state. Why a police state? To condition the American people to accept loss of liberty and to unconditionally surrender our freedoms for the new world order that is to come.	Aug 12, 2010 10:31 PM
341	Yes. Because 42% of our voters still think that Obama is doing a great job.	Aug 13, 2010 1:36 AM
342	I agree with the concerns but must add that most of the top level republicans are controlled by the same globalist interests that control the left. Our only hope for non violent restoration of our republic comes from local county and state action.	Aug 13, 2010 3:31 AM
343	agree, we are seeing the work of almost 100 years of undermining the Constitution. It could become the last truly free election this year. We have been robbed of many of our rights by the laws passed over the last year and half.	Aug 13, 2010 6:45 AM
344	Yes, Obama is doing everything to hurt america. Anyone with a brain knows you can not spend money that we don't have. Borrowing the money from China??? Why not borrow from Iraqi before the war. The president bowing to foreign leaders. People like Soros put him in power for their use. Obama says he father was from Kenya. I read his book. The way he talked about his grandmother doesn't make sense. He talked like it was the first time she saw a black. If he lived with her it doesn't make sense that she would say that. Since a lot of people from Hawaii are as dark as Obama or Darker. He has told too many lies and Media has let it go. There are articles out when he first became senator stating he was from Kenya. The Democratic party has being infiltrated by anti war people like weather underground who want to over throw the government.	Aug 13, 2010 7:30 AM
345	yes I have made decisions based on roughly equivalent ideas to the authors. and have avoided great monetary losses as a result.	Aug 14, 2010 2:42 AM

346	For the most part, I agree with the authors views, but I'm not sure replacing a worthless Democrat with a worthless Republican is the answer.	Aug 14, 2010 5:39 PM
347	Yes, I do agree. It seems that New Mexico's Congressional and Senate delegations stand prepared to "rubber stamp" anything the Obama administration embraces. Although an anti-war mentality certainly influenced the 2008 election results, it's most likely that the "welfare" vote had much to do with the Republican route than anything. We are the 2nd poorest state in the nation (with the worst schools in the country), which keeps the Democrats in power almost 100% of the time. Many NM cities are "sanctuary" cities for illegal aliens, and our Governor made sure that they could get driver's licenses.	Aug 15, 2010 5:06 AM
348	Yes I do agree. Everything I have been seeing emanating from this Federal Administration from the Congressional majority tells me that if the current trend remains unchanged then a fight is inevitable	Aug 15, 2010 5:33 AM
349	I agree. Obama must be stopped. period	Aug 15, 2010 11:04 PM
350	Yes. It's my belief that Mr. Obama is an overeducated idiot doing the bidding of Mr. Soros. Mr. Obama is unable to understand that Mr. Soro's directives are intended to bring America to her knees, much as Mr. Soro's attempts to crash the financial system of Great Britain nearly succeeded in the 1980's.	Aug 15, 2010 11:53 PM
351	Yes. Because it is the truth.	Aug 16, 2010 4:29 AM
352	Yes, it seems the core rights of the citizens of this Republic mean nothing to our highest elected officials. If the voice of the people will not be heard by our representatives, then what recourse as free people does one have but to resist oppression at all costs? The authors have picked up on the pulse of the people that are ready to say "enough is enough."	Aug 16, 2010 6:50 PM
353	i agree	Aug 17, 2010 12:55 AM
354	I don't think that the fears expressed by the authors go far enough. The number of "czars" he's appointed, and the breadth of their power is even more alarming than Obama's. i don't recall anyplace in the constitution where it says that the president can appoint czars to run the country. He's over-reaching his given powers to the extent that there may be a real revolution.	Aug 17, 2010 3:27 AM
355	I completely disagree with such groundless hogwash because there's not a scrap of evidence to support such ridiculous rantings. Obama is not in any way hostile to the boundless needs of corporate capitalism, he is, like EVERY president, its tireless servant. We do not even have a two-party system in this nation. We have for well over a hundred years, had only The Business And Corporate Party - whatever's good for business and to hell with everybody else. The two sides of this ONE entity are called Democrats (who care nothing for democracy), and Republicans (who care nothing for the republic). Furthermore, unlike normal right-wing propaganda chatter claims, Democrats are no more "liberal" than Republicans are "conservative". These are essentially meaningless terms designed to shut down debate by cornering thought processes into easily-managed channels. No matter what they call themselves, they're ALL worthless whores who will sell their mothers and yours down the river for the right price, and organizations like yours which seize upon imaginary narratives like that illustrated in your article are their hapless tools.	Aug 17, 2010 1:33 PM
356	Yes. The socialist agenda of centralizing power and monetary control is the surest way to use the economy of this great nation against itself from within. The redistribution of wealth by forced taxes and the sovereign state's adherence to the whims of the central government in order to get back the federal taxes levied against it's citizens is a direct violation of Constitutional restraints forbidding too strong a central (federal) government.	Aug 17, 2010 4:36 PM
357	I agree to a certain extent. I think Obama is unqualified to run a rural town let alone the U.S..	Aug 18, 2010 3:24 PM

358	I agree completely. If Americans knew what I have discovered they would flip out NOW. I have discovered and have made public a Congressional REcord report from the 76th Congressional record, that reveils how this country clear back in 1940's was set up to fail. It is very clear what is happening.	Aug 18, 2010 5:45 PM
359	Yes. If people can't feed their families they will revolt.	Aug 19, 2010 2:18 AM
360	Strongly agree	Aug 19, 2010 3:40 AM
